

Homepage > News Archives > Article

Army Medicine senior enlisted leader holds town hall

February 25, 2014

By Ana Allen (PRMC)

Like 4 people like this. Sign Up to see what your friends like.

Command Sgt. Maj. Donna A. Brock (right), command sergeant major for U.S. Army Medical Command and Command Sgt. Maj. Robert C. Luciano (left), command sergeant major for Pacific Regional Medical Command and Tripler Army Medical Center (TAMC) address Army medical senior enlisted leaders during a town hall at TAMC, Hawaii, on February 24, 2014. During the meeting, Brock encouraged staff to grow leaders through mentorship and to hold fast to core values such as competence, commitment and character.

The senior most enlisted leader in Army Medicine held a town hall with senior enlisted leaders at Tripler Army Medical Center (TAMC).

Command Sgt. Maj. Donna A. Brock, command sergeant major for U.S. Army Medical Command and Command Sgt. Maj. Robert C. Luciano, command sergeant major for Pacific Regional Medical Command and TAMC addressed Army medical senior enlisted leaders at TAMC, Hawaii, on February 24, 2014.

During the meeting, Brock discussed top priorities in Army Medicine and encouraged staff to not only grow leaders through mentorship but to set the example by becoming a mentee.

"Every leader in this room should have a mentor and if you don't I want to encourage you to find one," said Brock.

She also advised staff to continue to hold fast to core values such as competence, commitment and character.

Brock's visit comes at the tail-end of a two weeklong Asia-Pacific tour of military treatment facilities with Army Surgeon General, Lt. Gen. Patricia Horoho.

BOOKMARK & SHARE

Facebook Twitter Delicious MySpace Yahoo Buzz See All...

Page last updated Tue February 25th, 2014 at 00:00